Finance Managers Comments:

The team had predicted 37.25 hours for this week, week 1 of iteration 3.
We have gone over on estimated hours in total of 23 hours for the entire project.
This week alone we have gone under by 9.75 hours so have added to the company redundancy and so now have £705.41 extra in the pot. The company remains in a comfortable place financially.

With the team having exams and assignment due dates coming up, some are focusing on these which has lead to the miscalculation is user time this week. We have not missed this mark by too much as a lot of the other members are still on task. As the team enters iteration 3, the application is all starting to come together nicely. Final usability is being added and in reference to the financial business plan, taking the change log into account, the team is on track to finish on time and in a comfortable financial position.

Project Managers Comments:

With the reshuffling of the plan to focus on the more important aspects of the application, more hours can be assigned to the main features to flesh them out and make sure a quality product will be delivered in the coming weeks. Progress is coming along well on our main features.

Overall, progress is good. Two members of the development team have been paired up on a problem to get that rectified this coming week which will put us in a good position coming towards the end of the project.
